Caveats

Statistical crime reporting requires a number of rules to count events consistently. Multiple offenses may be committed in most opportunities for crime, and multiple charges may be attached to a single arrest. The statistics presented in this report were collected and compiled using the FBI's Hierarchy Rule that limits crime counts to only the most serious offense committed within an incident that is constrained by time and place, and limits arrest counts to only the most serious charge per booking. Therefore, some crimes may be underreported, e.g., if the victim is killed in a single-victim robbery situation, only murder is recorded, not the crime of robbery. Further details of the Hierarchy Rule are discussed in Footnote 1 on page 2.

The number of reported offenses corresponds to a victim count for only some types of offenses. Violent crimes generally employ the total victim count. Robberies, however, are counted by the incident, regardless of the number of victims. Property crimes also are generally counted by the incident, with the notable exceptions that a burglary is counted for each structure entered, and a motor vehicle theft for each vehicle stolen.

Some crimes are inherently difficult to classify. The UCR definition of aggravated assault, for example, is complex and has been misinterpreted, resulting in large variations between agencies and between years.

These statistics were produced from the operations of Hawaii's 4 county police departments. Statistics of prosecutorial, court, and parole board decisions are reported separately, by those agencies.

It is strongly cautioned that year-to-year changes based on small numbers of events are likely to result in large percentage changes which typically are not as meaningful as they might appear at first glance.

An unappreciated difference in the time period covered by two different sets of statistics can lead to erroneous conclusions regarding underlying relationships. For example, an abrupt change in the "percent of offenses cleared" statistics, which link the volume of arrests to the volume of reported offenses, should be viewed with caution because offenses already reported in previous years may be counted as cleared, by arrest or exceptional means, in the current year. A clearance is further defined in Appendix A.

The distinction between resident and de facto population is a most important consideration in viewing Crime in Hawaii. Crime rates are based on the number of crimes per 100,000 residents. De facto population includes the number of persons physically present in the state: residents, tourists, and non-resident military personnel. Crime rates based on de facto population can be significantly different than rates based on resident population. The UCR program uses resident population to calculate crime rates for all states. However, because of Hawaii's relatively small resident population and large visitor population, crime rates based on resident population are much higher when compared to rates based on the actual number of people in the state.

These and other issues surrounding the collection and compilation of crime and arrest data can contribute to the misinterpretation of statistics presented in this report. We welcome the opportunity to address the validity of readers' interpretations involving these crime statistics. Please feel free to contact us:

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

After reaching its lowest and second-lowest level on record in 1999 and 2000, respectively, Hawaii's Index Crime rate rose 3.6% in 2001, marking the second consecutive year of increases. A total of 65,947 Index Crimes were reported in Hawaii in 2001, yielding a rate of 5,386 offenses per 100,000 resident population. Although Kauai was the only County to report a decreasing Index Crime rate, the State's overall rate in 2001 was at its fourth lowest point since data collection began in 1975.

The slight upward trend in Hawaii's crime rate roughly follows the current national trend whereby, after several years of steady decline, preliminary FBI data indicate that the number of reported Index Crimes increased 2.0% nationally from 2000 to 2001.

In other ways, the nature and extent of crime in Hawaii remain atypical compared to many other parts of the United States. Nationally, 88% of the Index Crimes reported in 2000 (the latest year for which complete U.S. data are available) were property crimes and 12% were violent crimes. In Hawaii in 2001, 95% of the reported Index Crimes were property crimes and 5% were violent crimes.

In 2000, Hawaii was ranked 6th highest in the nation for the total Index Crime rate per 100,000 residents, 43rd for the violent Index Crime rate, and 2nd for the property Index Crime rate. Driving Hawaii's high property and overall Index Crime rates is the offense of Larceny-Theft, for which Hawaii's rate was the highest in the nation in 2000. Larceny-Thefts are usually, and by a wide margin, the most numerous of the Index Crimes reported in any jurisdiction, and thus weigh heavily in the calculation of total crime rates. Larceny-Theft is also officially considered the least serious of the 8 Index Crimes.

Other highlights of this report include the following:

- Hawaii's violent Index Crime rate increased 4.5% in 2001, with 3,117 such offenses reported during the year. Murder, the most serious offense, was the only category to show a rate decrease (down 10.3%). The other violent Index Crime rates increased: Forcible Rape (16.8%), Aggravated Assault (4.7%), and Robbery (0.7%). The statewide violent crime rate in 2001 was 255 offenses per 100,000 residents.
- The property Index Crime rate increased 3.6% in 2001, with 62,830 total reported offenses. Each of the property Index Crime categories showed increases from 2000 to 2001: Motor Vehicle Theft (9.1%), Burglary (3.6%), Larceny-Theft (2.8%). The statewide property crime rate in 2001 was 5,132 offenses per 100,000 residents.
- The number of statewide Index Crime arrests fell 3.5% in 2001. Arrests for violent crimes decreased 4.6% and fell 3.2% for property crimes. The total clearance rate for reported Index Crimes dropped from 14.3% in 2000 to 12.4% in 2001.
- Adult arrests comprised 70.3% of all Index Crime arrests in 2001; juvenile arrests accounted for 29.7%.
- Juvenile Index Crime arrests annually hovered in the 4,000 to 7,000 range during the 1975-1997 period. In 2001, a total of 2,598 juvenile Index Crime arrests were reported, eclipsing the previous record low of 2,769 arrests reported in 2000, and setting the fourth consecutive record annual low. The 2001 total marks a 48.6% decrease in juvenile Index Crime arrests over the previous 10-year period.

- The City & County of Honolulu's Index Crime rate increased 3.2% in 2001, with the violent crime rate climbing 5.7% and the property crime rate up 3.1%.
- Hawaii County's Index Crime rate increased 6.3% in 2001. The violent crime rate increased 14.5% and the property crime rate rose 6.0%.
- The Index Crime rate in Maui County increased 8.6%, with the violent crime rate rising 4.7% and the property crime rate up 8.7%.
- Kauai was the only County to post a decrease in its Index Crime rate in 2001, down 10.2%. Kauai County's violent crime rate decreased 34.2% and the property crime rate fell 8.7% in 2001.
- Thirty-two murders were reported in Hawaii in 2001, down from 35 reported in 2000. Females comprised 34.4% of the murder victims and 15.8% of the alleged offenders in 2001. The breakdown for the relationship between victims and offenders includes: acquaintance, 34.4%; spouse, 21.9%; stranger, 15.6%; girlfriend/boyfriend, 15.6%; unknown relationship, 9.4%; and immediate family, 3.1%.
- Of the 2,717 murders, robberies, and aggravated assaults reported statewide during 2001, 61.5% were committed using hands, fists, feet, etc., 17.7% with other/unknown weapons, 11.2% with firearms, and 9.7% with edged weapons.
- Over $61.5 million in property was reported stolen in Hawaii during 2001. Of that total, approximately $9.4 million, or 15.4%, was recovered.
- On October 31, 2001, a total of 2,758 police officers and 772 civilians were employed by the four county police departments, denoting a 1.1% decrease in officers and a 3.4% increase in civilians from the figures reported on October 31, 2000.
- In 2001, 252 assaults on Hawaii's police officers were recorded (a rate of 9.1 attacks per 100 police officers), marking a 4.6% decrease from 2000 and setting a new record low since this record keeping began in 1985. Crime in Hawaii 2001 also provides data on the time of day, type of assignment, and the weapons used in attacks against police officers.

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program

BACKGROUND

The Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program was initiated in 1930 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) to meet a recognized need for a nationwide system to collect crime statistics. Since there are numerous differences in criminal codes throughout the United States, the UCR program uses a standard definition for each offense. Law enforcement agencies submit data in accordance to these definitions rather than local statutes. This standardization allows for interjurisdictional comparisons and internal validity of national totals.

The national UCR program is administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Definitions of specific offenses, as well as reporting criteria, are contained in the FBI's publication Uniform Crime Reporting Handbook. The FBI provides report forms and training to city, county, and state law enforcement agencies. Crime data are collected by over 16,000 local enforcement agencies and reported to the FBI. The FBI assembles, publishes, and distributes a comprehensive annual publication entitled Crime in the United States, as well as periodic special reports.

In an effort to streamline procedures and provide consistency and comparability of data, the FBI promoted the development of state UCR programs. The purpose of the state-level UCR program is to collect data from local law enforcement agencies and assure compliance with standards developed jointly by the FBI and IACP.

Hawaii's UCR program was housed in the Judiciary from its inception in 1975 until 1981, when it was transferred to the Hawaii Criminal Justice Data Center, a Division of the Department of the Attorney General. In 1991, the program was transferred from the Data Center to the Research and Statistics Branch of the Crime Prevention Division, which in 1995 became the Crime Prevention and Justice Assistance Division.

The Crime Prevention and Justice Assistance Division collects and reviews the recently computerized UCR reports received from the 4 county police departments before mailing the reports to the FBI. The Division is also responsible for providing technical assistance to the contributing agencies, as well as serving as the FBI's single point of contact in the state for distributing program information.

CRIME STATISTICS

Consistent with the UCR objectives of providing the best representation of total crime and providing the most meaningful data to police departments, the UCR program collects data on reported offenses and arrests. It is widely understood that offenses known to police are an underrepresentation of the total number of crimes committed, and that a truly reliable measure of unreported crimes is difficult to obtain. However, the use of reported offenses as official statistics can be verified and compared over time.

Because of their seriousness and frequency of occurrence, 7 offenses were initially chosen by the IACP to comprise a Crime Index and serve as indicators of our nation's crime experience: murder and nonnegligent manslaughter; forcible rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary; larceny-theft; and motor vehicle theft. In 1979, a congressional mandate added arson as the eighth Crime Index Offense.¹

Information reported for Index Offenses includes: the number of crimes committed; the number of offenses cleared by arrest or by exceptional means²; the number of persons arrested, and the value of property destroyed by arson and taken in each of the remaining offenses, except aggravated assault. (By definition, property cannot be taken in an assault. An offense that begins as an assault but ends with property being taken is classified as robbery.) The 8 Crime Index offenses plus the crime of negligent manslaughter are referred to as Part I offenses. While complete information is collected on nontraffic-related negligent manslaughters, this offense is rare and not mentioned in Crime in the United States. Part II offenses include all other offenses, except traffic, not included in Part I. The national UCR program collects and reports only arrest data for Part II offenses, while Crime in Hawaii additionally contains reported Part II offense statistics.³ The total Part II Offense data were obtained from the annual reports of the 4 county police departments. Total negligent manslaughter arrests, including traffic-related, are included in Crime in Hawaii with the Part II arrests.

Definitions of terms used in this report appear in Appendices A and B. More detailed descriptions of the UCR program can be obtained from the Uniform Crime Reporting Handbook published by the FBI of the U.S. Department of Justice. Trends in law enforcement officers killed and assaulted (LEOKA) are reported in Appendix C.

UCR program rules for classifying and counting crimes are somewhat complex and can, at times, even appear contradictory. Prior to delving into the pages that follow, first-time readers of Crime in Hawaii are encouraged to read the "Caveats" page, which precedes the Forward. All readers are requested to review this page when attempting to answer questions about how crimes and arrests are counted, and to contact us if their questions remain unanswered. Contact information is at the bottom of the "Caveats" page.

STATE DEVELOPMENTS

The current UCR program in Hawaii is summary-based. It does not collect data on individual crime incidents or victim characteristics (except for murder), or differentiate between military, visitor, or resident victims or offenders. A statistical reporting system that would provide these capabilities was promulgated by the FBI in 1988. The National Incident Based Reporting System (NIBRS) collects individual records relating to each crime incident and its associated arrest (if any), in contrast to the UCR program's monthly summary counts of offenses, clearances, arrests, and totals of the value of property stolen and recovered in the various crime

¹ Hawaii has collected arson offense data since 1980. Nationally, a number of jurisdictions do not report arson offenses to the FBI. Also, the Hierarchy Rule does not apply to arson offenses. This means that all arsons which become known to the police are counted, so that crime incidents which include arson and one or more of the other Index Offenses are counted twice. As a result, the FBI does not include arsons in calculating and reporting total Index Crimes or property crimes and their respective crime rates. In order to remain consistent with federal reporting, Hawaii also does not include arsons in total Index Crimes and property crimes. Arson offenses are also not counted in the grand total of Index & Part II Offenses, the last row on the 10-year offense summary pages for the state and counties.

² An offense cleared by exceptional means is one in which the offender and his or her exact location are known to the law enforcement agency but, for reasons beyond the control of the agency, the offender cannot be arrested. See Appendix A for definition and examples.

³See Appendix B for definitions of Part II Offenses.

categories. The increased volume and complexity of data in NIBRS make the system costly, and implementation has been slow, especially in major cities with high crime rates.

In 1992, the Hawaii Legislature provided funds to determine if the Hawaii UCR program is adequate, effective, and efficient and to recommend an appropriate course of action as needed to satisfy the crime statistics and information requests of the State of Hawaii and its contributing law enforcement agencies. The proposed alternatives needed to be compatible with the requirements of NIBRS and be capable of capturing data regarding hate crimes.

The contract to conduct the comprehensive study of the UCR program was awarded to SEARCH Group, the National Consortium for Justice Information and Statistics, in July 1993. The final report, which included a recommendation for a three-phase implementation of an incident-based reporting system, was presented to the Legislature in January, 1994. However, authorization to proceed with the suggested plan was not approved.

In 1996 and 1998, the U.S. Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) of the U.S. Department of Justice awarded grants to SEARCH Group to explore the impediments to NIBRS reporting in various localities and develop a number of pilot implementations to demonstrate how these difficulties can be overcome. In connection with the second grant, and at the request of the Attorney General, SEARCH visited Hawaii's 4 police departments in April, 1999.

In May 2000, BJS announced a grant to state UCR programs to select and fund major city or county police departments for NIBRS development. The Maui Police Department, the Honolulu Police Department, and the Department of the Attorney General applied for and received approximately $500K of funding under this grant. Subsequent negotiations with BJS and other developments have required that the start date for this project be pushed back, although it is anticipated that the work will commence in late-2002.

The nature of crime in Hawaii is different from the United States in general. Nationally, violent crimes accounted for 12.3% of Crime Index in 2000, while in Hawaii in 2000 and in 2001 only 4.7% of the Crime Index was comprised of violent crimes.

The number of reported Index Offenses in Hawaii increased 4.7% from 2000 to 2001. Of the eight reported Index Crimes, murder was the only offense to show a decrease in the number of reported offenses from 2000 to 2001 (down 8.6%). The most dramatic increase was in arsons, which increased 32.9% (from 389 in 2000 to 517 in 2001). The number of reported Part II Offenses decreased 3.0%, edging the grand total of Index and Part II Offenses down 0.2% in 2001. From the rate reported in 2000 — the second lowest on record — the rate of reported Index Offenses per 100,000 resident population increased by 3.6% in 2001.

The table on the next page lists the actual numbers of reported crimes and status offenses, excluding traffic offenses, in the State of Hawaii during the past 10 years. Five Index Offense categories — murder, rape, robbery, burglary, and larceny-theft — showed lower offense totals in 2001 than in 1992, while the number of reported offenses was higher in the other three categories.

ARREST STATISTICS

Arrest data, including the age, sex, and race/ethnicity of the arrestees, are reported by county law enforcement agencies for all violations except most traffic offenses¹. The UCR Program requires that an arrest be counted on each separate occasion a person is taken into custody, notified, or cited. As such, arrest figures do not measure the number of individual people arrested since one person may be arrested several times during the year, for the same or different types of offenses.

Only the most serious violation is recorded for each arrest. The violations are divided into two categories: Index Offenses, including murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson; and Part II Offenses, comprised of all other offenses, including manslaughter by negligence². Definitions of Index Offenses and Part II Offenses are included in Appendices A and B, respectively.

Race and ethnicity data are presented using categories relevant to Hawaii: White, Black, American Indian or Alaskan Native, Chinese, Japanese, Filipino, Hawaiian/Part-Hawaiian, Korean, Samoan, and Other Asian or Pacific Islanders. Categories typically employed by the FBI and elsewhere in the nation are more restrictive: White, Black, American Indian or Alaskan Native, and Asian or Pacific Islander.

There were a number of new tables introduced in Crime in Hawaii, 1996. Primary among these are historical counts of adult and juvenile arrests for the Part II Offense categories. The juvenile status offenses of curfew/loitering and runaway are traditionally included in Part II. In addition, the status offenses of truancy and ungovernability are included in the Part II arrest category of "All Other Offenses" for juveniles. The role that these status offenses play in any examination of juvenile arrest trends should be seriously considered. For example, in 2001, there were 4,583 arrests statewide for the specified status offenses, accounting for 48.8% of juvenile arrests for Part II Offenses, and 38.2% of all juvenile arrests. Thus, status offense arrests weigh heavily into the calculation of juvenile arrest totals and trends, and any adult-to-juvenile comparison based on traditional Part II totals will be biased in favor of adults.

APPENDIX A

DEFINITIONS

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT: An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury; attempted murder. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. It is not necessary that injury result from an aggravated assault when a gun, knife, or other weapon is used which could and probably would result in serious personal injury if the crime were successfully completed. Attacks by personal weapons, such as hands, fists, feet, etc., which result in serious or aggravated injury.

ARSON: Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

ASSAULT: An unlawful attack by one person upon another. Includes Aggravated Assault (Part I Offense) and Other Assaults (Part II Offense).

BURGLARY: The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. Includes forcible entry, unlawful entry where no force is used, and attempted forcible entry where no entry occurs.

CLEARANCE: An offense is "cleared" either by arrest or exceptional means. An offense is cleared by arrest when at least one person is arrested; charged with the commission of the offense; and turned over to the court for prosecution. An offense is cleared by exceptional means when the identity of the offender is known; there is enough evidence to support an arrest, charge, and turning over to the court for prosecution; the exact location of the offender is known; and, for reasons outside the control of law enforcement, the offender cannot be arrested, charged, and prosecuted. Examples of offenses cleared by exceptional means include suicide of the offender, double murder, deathbed confession, and denied extradition. It should be noted that the number of offenses and not the number of persons arrested is used to count clearances. Several offenses may be cleared by the arrest of one person; or the arrest of several people may clear only one offense.

CRIME INDEX: The eight Part I Offenses reported in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program to represent the status of crime in the United States: murder and nonnegligent manslaughter (the latter term is not used in Hawaii), forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson.

CRIME RATE: The number of crimes per 100,000 population (usually the resident population):

$$\text{Crime Rate} = \frac{\text{Number of Crimes} \times 100,000}{\text{Resident Population}}$$

More accurate crime rates (e.g., the number of rapes per 100,000 females or the number of motor vehicle thefts per 100,000 vehicles) are not reported in Crime in the U.S. and, therefore, are not used in Crime in Hawaii.

CRIMINAL HOMICIDE: The willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another or the killing of another person through gross negligence. Includes Murder and Nonnegligent Manslaughter (the latter term is not used in Hawaii), and Manslaughter by Negligence.

DE FACTO POPULATION: The number of persons physically present in an area, regardless of military status or usual place of residence. Includes visitors present and excludes residents temporarily absent.

PART I OFFENSES: Offenses which make up the Crime Index: murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson; plus the offense of manslaughter by negligence.

PART II OFFENSES: All criminal offenses not classified as Part I Offenses. Also included are the juvenile status offenses of curfew/loitering violation and runaway. See Appendix B for specific Part II Offense definitions.

PROPERTY OFFENSES: Include larceny-theft, burglary, auto theft, and arson. Robbery is classified as a violent crime due to the use or threat of force.

RESIDENT POPULATION: The number of persons whose usual place of residence is in an area, regardless of physical location on the estimated census date. ROBBERY: The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim(s) in fear. While robbery has the attributes of a property crime, it is grouped with violent crimes due to the additional attribute of force or the threat of force.

APPENDIX C

POLICE OFFICERS KILLED AND ASSAULTED AND POLICE DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEE STATISTICS

In 2001, the number of police officers assaulted in the line of duty in the State of Hawaii was the lowest on record since the start of statewide data collection in 1975. The graph above demonstrates the trend of assaults on officers during the past 15 years. From 1986 to 2001, the number of such assaults decreased 49.9%, from 503 in 1986 to 252 in 2001. There was a 4.6% decrease in officer assaults from 2000 to 2001, dropping from 264 to 252.

By county, assaults on officers were distributed as follows: 75.8% (185) to the City & County of Honolulu, 9.4% (23) to Maui County, 9.4% (23) to Hawaii County, and 5.3% (13) to Kauai County.

Most of the assaults on police officers during 2001 occurred when responding to disturbance calls (136, 55.7%). Attempting an arrest posed the second greatest risk of assault for police officers (44, 18.0%). Twenty-three of the assaults (9.4%) occurred while handling or transporting prisoners. Traffic pursuits and stops accounted for 19 assaults (7.8%) and 4 (1.6%) occurred while investigating suspicious persons.

The use of physical force was most often the means of assault on police officers. In 2001, 82.9% (209) of the officers assaulted were assaulted by hands, fists, or other bodily means. The bar graphs below show the breakdown of weapons used in assaults and the type of assignment local police officers were on when they were assaulted.

APPENDIX D

POPULATION ESTIMATES

State and county resident population estimates for Crime in Hawaii 2001 are from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The United States census of population is taken as of April 1 in each year ending in zero. Intercensal population estimates are made as of July 1 in each non-census year. Estimates based on the just completed census are also made for July 1 of census years. While the FBI continues to use exact census populations to calculate crime rates in census years, Crime in Hawaii 2001, used July 1 estimated populations to determine crime rates for all years. In so doing, a regular progression of estimates taken at 12-month intervals is available to more accurately reflect crime rate trends.
