News Release No. 2006-23

SEX OFFENDERS INDICTED FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS

(HONOLULU) An Oahu grand jury has indicted ten men for failure to comply with sex offender registration requirements. Bail for each offender was set at $25,000. Intentional or knowing failure to comply with sex offender registration requirements is a class C felony, punishable by up to five years in prison. The prosecutions were made possible by investigations conducted jointly by the Honolulu Police Department and investigators from the Department of the Attorney General.

Information regarding and photographs of the indicted offenders are attached. The whereabouts of nine of the ten offenders are unknown. Glenn T. Meyers is currently incarcerated at Oahu Community Correctional Center for allegedly attempting to murder his pregnant girlfriend. Members of the public with information regarding the whereabouts of the remaining offenders are asked to contact the Department of the Attorney General at (808) 587-3100.

“Convicted sex offenders will be prosecuted and we will ask that they be sent to jail.” Attorney General Mark Bennett said. “Knowing the whereabouts of convicted sex offenders helps people make informed decisions about safety in their own neighborhoods, and helps parents protect their children. That is why, in December of 2005, after we indicted convicted sex offenders for registration violations, we offered amnesty to sex offenders who had failed to register. We want the public to have accurate information. A few sex offenders took up the amnesty offer. As promised, we are now going after those offenders who ignore our registration laws.”

The Department of the Attorney General maintains the state sex offender registry and operates the web site at sexoffenders.hawaii.gov. The department has a “Non-Compliant Offenders” section to the web site. This section lists 624 offenders who have failed to complete or update registration requirements or otherwise failed to comply with the sex offender law. The Attorney General asks members of the public to call (808) 587-3100 if they know the whereabouts of any of these 624 non-compliant offenders. The registry does not have verified addresses for 247 of the 624.

There are approximately 2,309 sex registered sex offenders in Hawaii. Approximately 1,505 offenders are listed on the sex offender registry public web site. Approximately 1,839 offenders, including those listed on the web site, are listed at the public information terminals located at designated police stations in every county and at the Hawaii Criminal Justice Data Center at 465 South King Street.

Expanded Internet information became available on Hawaii’s sex offender information web site on May 9, 2005, when Governor Linda Lingle signed a law to increase public access to sex offender registration information (Act 45). Since then, the web site has received more than 6.2 million hits.

An indictment is merely an accusation and the defendants are presumed innocent until and unless they are proven guilty.
