HAWAII SEX OFFENDER WEB SITE OFFERS NEW FEATURES

HONOLULU – A new, free service provided by the Department of the Attorney General allows members of the public to subscribe to receive e-mail alerts when registration information regarding sex offenders in their selected geographic area is added or updated.

Users of this service may sign up to receive alerts regarding registered offenders who live or work within a selected zip code or within a one-, two-, or three-mile radius of a specified address.

To subscribe to this service, visit the State sex offender registry Web site at sexoffenders.hawaii.gov.

In addition, the site now provides additional information required by Act 80, Session Laws of Hawaii 2008, including offenders' birth year, sex, race, height, weight, hair color, eye color, aliases, volunteer organizations, and professional licenses. Also available are copies of registrants' judgments of conviction, links to the text of statutes defining the crimes for which registrants were convicted, mapping features, geographic radius searches, a searchable list of non-compliant offenders, phonetic names, an offender status search function, answers to frequently asked questions, and safety tips.
