- Fines (getting a ticket)
- Arrests (going to jail)
- Civil suits (going to court)

Selling alcohol to someone under 21 years old can:

- Lead to drunk driving. Car crashes are the leading cause of death for teens and 25% of those crashes involve an underage drinking driver.
- Dangerous situations. Youth who drink are more likely to have sex, putting them at risk for sexual violence, pregnancy and contract a sexually transmitted disease.
